Weather, Labor Shortage Curb Bumper Harvest

The Alberta grain harvest took on the appearance of a national emergency today as the federal government released servicemen to help gather in the crops before winter strikes.

Farm leaders throughout the province greeted the government's move, but were still pessimistic about chances of completing the harvest.

"It's still in the lap of the gods," declared O. S. Longman, Alberta's deputy agriculture minister. He said a solid month to six weeks of fine weather was needed to finish the job.

A late spring and wet summer coupled with a September snowstorm and more rain last week set crops back almost a month and idled harvest crews just at the time they should have been working full out.

LABOR SCARCITY

Added to hazards of the weather was a critical farm labor shortage, which Longman described as the worst he has ever seen.

Urgency of the situation was stressed by Roy C. Marler, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture. Marler said that "unless the weather improves during the next six weeks, over what it has been the past month, nearly 50 per cent of the crop will be left on the ground."

Even with the help of the military and a break from the weather, he doubted if all the crop would be gathered before winter.

The statistics division of the Alberta agriculture department said that on Sept. 30 only 7.8 per cent of the wheat, 2.8 per cent of the oats and 13.9 per cent of the barley had been threshed. About 75 per cent of the grain had been cut, but some 60 per cent was still in stook or swath on the ground, awaiting threshing crews.

Longman said harvesters had been idle the past 10 days due to rain. Previously the September snowstorm halted operations. "Grades were hit hard by the weather. Average grade of Alberta's 1951 wheat crop will be below No. 2 Northern, the department estimated."

Tactical at group headquarters. In Edmonton announced a 14-day special harvest leave was being granted servicemen volunteering to help the farm emergency. The leave will be extended another 11 days, if necessary.

Soldiers, sailors and airmen volunteering throughout the three prairie provinces will receive regular military pay and allowances on top of their harvest pay from the farmers who employ them. Harvesters are averaging $12 a day in Alberta.

A military spokesman, enlarging on an Ottawa announcement by Defence Minister Brooke Claxton in Saturday, added that the men would receive free transportation and meals while en route to harvest areas. They will also be protected by their parents at if injured while engaged in the harvest.

A Daniel Come to Judgement

Does the farmer own his land, if he has a clear title to his land he is the owner of it, but we are led to ask: What is land?

The provincial government, in order to protect the farmers and make sure that his land remains his land, passed a Sand and Gravel Act, which makes the farmer secure in the elements that go to make his land. There is a case at present before the courts, in which it is being argued that the sand and gravel on a farm are minerals and therefore come under the mineral rights clause in any land act.

A farmer buys a tract of land in Alberta, pays good money for it, pays taxes on it, but now they want to deprive him piecemeal of his very soil. There is sand and gravel in all land. Every small garden is full of some sand or gravel and the owners of farms and gardens are liable to spend a busy time sorting out what is theirs and what may be claimed by anybody who wants minerals!

In this case there is need for a Daniel to come to judgment! It should be the judgment of the courts, if the sand and gravel are declared minerals under the law, that anybody gaining the right to take them out should be forced to take them away without a single bit of "land" being harmed or removed. The land at least belongs to the farmer, only the sand and gravel can be removed.

To paraphrase from the "Merchant of Venice", this should be the law as expounded by a Daniel come to judgment:

Therefore prepare thee to take out thy sand and gravel. Take thou no land; nor take thou less nor more but just that amount which is legally thine. If thou takest less or more than the gravel and sand that is thine, thy contract is void and thou art liable for damages. Take the sand and gravel, but don't touch the land!—under threat of prosecution.

Edinburgh Blue Popular Color

The Duke of Edinburgh has succeeded to the place of the Duke of Windsor held in the fashionable world. Today the masculine portion of the population look to Edinburgh and not Paris or New York for their fashions.

The doughty sailor duke has set the fashion in color for men's wear—Edinburgh blue. The handsome and charming husband of Princess Elizabeth has all the qualities required to make him a style-leader. He dresses well, colorfully and, when the occasion dictates, informally.

Recognized as a British stylemaker, the duke has inspired an Edinburgh blue trend in this fall and winter men's clothing.

The influence of historic events on color is an interesting study. At the time of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, the whole of England dressed in royal purple. Purple dresses of varying degrees of shade, purple ties for the men, sweaters, gloves and even shoes. Canadians are not likely to go to extremes in this manner, it is predicted.

Worse Than DT's

It is with some diffidence that we offer to any seasoned soak the following cure for alcoholism now being tried out in Czechoslovakia.

It is—work, vitamins, orange juice and Marxist lectures. Seven weeks of 'em.

This recipe seems to work, according to Reuters. A refugee from the Czechs, interviewed in Vienna, turned down a drink, saying he couldn't touch it "after the lessons I got."

He told of reeling along with the "work and other stuff" lectures on the evils of drink and on political and economic subjects.

Now there's no magic in this recipe.

Vitamins and orange juice are old stuff, so are the lectures on totalitarianism. Sometimes they work, sometimes they don't.

But the Czechs may have something in Marx that the West hasn't got. It sounds as if they've discovered a new shock treatment.

A solid seven-week series of spouts on the sorrows of socialism as suffered under the Soviets should scare anyone off the drink.

It would be worse than the DT's.

All About Beds

By JACK SCOTT

I am a guy who, when he reads through the back pages of any magazine, becomes dizzy with the wonderful advances in civilized living.

The front of the magazine may say we are going to annihilate ourselves with atom bombs in the next 10 years, but in the bright shining world of the advertisements to the rear there is page after page of proof that there we will, at least, have reached a high degree of making life easier for ourselves in the few short years we have left.

If I had a trumpet I would give a crisp fanfare to the makers of pressure cookers, deodorants, aspirin, jockey shorts, electric lawnmowers, plastic dental plates, two-way stretch girdles and all the other advances in modern living which prove that life can be beautiful, if temporary.

Jack Scott

And yet it seems to me that in all these blessings of inventiveness and "know how," as the Americans say, we have neglected one important aspect of modern civilization.

Nobody has yet invented a bed big enough for a grown man!

A scientific study of beds and their relationship to grown men, which I have been conducting for several years, indicates proof positive that men are getting larger all the time and beds are getting smaller. Were it possible to take a nocturnal peek into the bedrooms of any group of average red-blooded Canadian males I venture to say that nine out of ten would be found with their feet sticking out and looking mighty hideous, too.

Th every-day, double, or two-passenger bed is, itself, of a size in which only a drowsy nidget could be thoroughly comfortable, but the beds on steamers and in hotels are the real cause of mankind.

In the last week I have spent five nights precariously clinging to make-up shelves. These so-called beds are not only short enough to suggest that they were designed for double amputees, but are so narrow that they make sleep impossible. A man must remain alertly awake and with a delicate sense of balance or risk a nasty fall.

Perched like a nervous canary on the upper ledge of a two-tier bunk the other night I let my mind go back to a bed I once slept in at a place called Tilburg in Holland. The Dutch may not have pressure-cookers or plastic dental plates but, by the Lord Harry, they have beds that were made for comfort.

A fellow called Her Stewart was billeted with me at that time in a middle-class Dutch home, and as we crawled into that immense bed on our first night he had hardly time to say "Good-night" before he sank slowly out of sight. I, myself disappeared out of the world of the living into a beautiful, bottomless, feathered pit.

On that very evening a paratroop attack was anticipated in Tilburg. The signal was to be the firing of two anti-aircraft guns less than a hundred yards from where we slept. During the night there was a false alarm that the Germans were dropping troops. The guns blazed for four minutes. Later in the evening the Germans shelled the town with a gigantic railway gun north of the town.

We learned all about it the next day after a night of uninterrupted sleep.

I haven't carried out any extensive investigation on the cause for the decline of the bed, but I will wager a small sum (say 15 cents) that it all began with the idiot who invented twin beds, probably one of the early interior decorators.

The twin bed is based on the theory that since two people may be comfortable in a double bed they may be equally comfortable, separately, a half-a-bed each, a fine piece of mathematical logic which has given many a man a sleepless night.

About the same time as the twin beds were coming on the market somebody else invented a chest-of-drawers which makes up into a couch. This particular invention is based on the theory that humbugs can shorten themselves like a telescope, without permanent injury. Personally, I would as soon spend a night in an accordion case.

What I'm looking for now is a bed about nine feet square, a suitable roost for a man who hopes to spend the best years of his life horizontally.

PENSIONERS DEAL

Dear Sir—Your editorial "Old Age Pensioners Anxious" is worthy of more than passing consideration, though it does not touch the main problem confronting many like ourselves in these days of soaring prices.

A few days ago we received a letter from the Hon. Paul Martin, minister of health and national welfare in regard to the forthcoming OAP legislation.

Having kept a record of newspaper pronouncements on this subject since the federal committee brought in their recommendations, we have waited for some pronouncement from our provincial government as it concerns the 65-69 age group.

In July last Hon. Paul Martin indicated that this group would need to wait for provincial announcements.

In August Premier Duplessis made it clear he would go along with this age group on the 50-55 basis. Ontario next announced endorsement, and their legislature met last week for that purpose. Premier Johnston of B.C. has made it plain that they will put through complimentary legislation for the 65-69 needy cases. Since then Premier Campbell of Manitoba has also agreed, and the house is to meet soon for this purpose.

I have the news clipping on hand, taken from Edmonton Journal.

Having occasion to write Mr. Martin about his letter to me, I told him of my surprise at his making no mention of this 65-69 age group when in Calgary and our city recently.

Moreover, not a word from Premier Manning, though Dr. Cross some time ago indicated he was in favor of the BEST that the country could do for their aged citizens.

Alberta is far ahead now in ancially of Manitoba. If Premier Campbell has enough faith and goodness of heart to consider their needy aged citizens between age 65 and 69, what in all conscience holds Alberta back from following suit with the provinces mentioned?

STRIKE PAY

Dear Sir—It will hardly seem reasonable to the millions of non-union Canadian wage and salary earners who have been contributing for the past 10 years a part of their weekly earnings to the Unemployment Insurance Fund that their money should be used to provide a form of strike pay to union sympathizers who refuse to work on the grounds that it is improper to cross a picket line.

Union leaders attending the recent Canadian Congress of Labor (CIO) convention in Vancouver urge Ottawa pay unemployment insurance benefits to anyone who refuses to cross a picket line and thus voluntarily accepts unemployment.

Seeking such special benefits for the members of the organized labor group is not the way to promote the even justice and harmony most Canadians desire. It might be noted that the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (AFL) refused to endorse a similar resolution on the grounds that unemployment benefits paid to workers refusing to cross a picket line would drain the Unemployment Insurance Fund. Most Canadians will feel that organized labor is able to apply pressure to obtain enough special concessions without seeking strike pay from the public purse.

Four Years In Jail For Planting Bomb

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (BUP)—Alex Adorian, a miner from East Coulee, Alberta, was sentenced yesterday to four years in Prince Albert penitentiary.

He pleaded guilty in Drumheller to placing dynamite in the East Coulee home of Mrs. Mary Juhasz, with intent to do bodily harm.

The court was told that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police found two home-made bombs, one in the woman's bed and the other in a woodpile.

Health Minister Dr. W. W. Cross said extra per diem allowances would be made for maternity cases, hospitalized old age pensioners and hospitalized recipients of mother's allowance and dependents of this group.

The minister said the next session of the legislature early in 1952 would be asked to approve additional appropriations to provide similar extra allowances for hospitalized indigents in the province.

Extra allowances announced today consisted of $1.25 for class A hospitals, increasing the provincial grant to $7.45 daily; 75 cents for class C hospitals, raising the total to $6.45; and 50 cents for class D and E hospitals, raising their grants to $5.95.

Cross said the extra maternity award covered care of the mothers but not their newborn, Edmonton and Calgary hospitals were expected to benefit most from the new rates.

Officials recalled public ward rates in class A Alberta hospitals were recently raised to $7.50 per day. The new scale of grants will take care of all this amount except five cents.

Manning Vetoes Suggestion For Liquor Law Probe

Premier E. C. Manning threw cold water on a suggestion that a Royal Commission be formed to investigate standardization of Canadian liquor laws.

Manning said at his weekly press conference that different provincial governments and the federal government presently administer the nation's liquor laws.

"If we are going to be realistic," he added, "we have to realize that a Royal Commission trying to deal with such a varied jurisdiction has faint hope of devising any recommendations that could be implemented throughout Canada."

Manning commented on a report that Manitoba is favoring a Royal Commission on liquor regulations. He said Alberta was not opposed to such a commission, because the situation regarding liquor laws was "serious enough." But he added that Alberta did not believe a commission would be able to satisfy all provinces presently administering their own liquor laws.

Smokers Turning To Forty Cent Brands

Edmonton smokers were reported turning to 40-cent brands of cigarettes this week following the price boost to 42 cents by one tobacco manufacturer.

One tobacco wholesaler also said that retailers charging 42 cents for cigarettes were "profit-eering" as the new higher price stocks had not yet arrived in the city.

Imperial Tobacco company has thus far been the only firm to raise its cigarette prices.

It was reported there would be no price boost for cigars and other tobacco products.

Outlook For Crops Improved By 3 Days Of Hot Weather

The prairie farmer, beset by snow as late as June and as early as September, can expect a bumper crop of relatively high grade grade despite the vagaries of the weatherman.

This was the consensus among grain men here who regarded the past three days of hot dry weather as a poker player who draws to an inside straight.

They said another day of warm weather would have a profound effect on harvesting operations that already were being resumed in some areas for the first time in many days.

It was unlikely the weatherman would cooperate to everybody's satisfaction. The forecast was for rain in Saskatchewan "as far east as Regina" and into Manitoba with cloudy but warm weather in Alberta.

"Another day or so of this weather and harvesting will be general across the prairies, especially on the uncut crop."

British Election Issues Familiar To Canadians

By HARRY FERGUSON

(British United Press Foreign News Editor)

The British and Canadian election systems are similar, and the issues on which the voters pass are about the same. Britons go to the polls Oct. 25. The things they are excited about will sound familiar to Canadians:

1. The high cost of living.
2. Heavy taxes that have been levied because of the necessity to arm against the threat of Communist aggression.
3. The vague fear that any government that makes a mis-step will plunge the nation into World War III.

There are several political parties in Britain, but only two have a chance of getting enough votes to control the country—the Labor party and the Conservative party. The Labor party is what its name indicates. It is by, of and for the worker. It is committed to taking care of every Briton from the cradle to the grave, and it assures the voters that if they will work hard, and turn over a sizeable portion of their earnings to the government they will have nothing to worry about. Medical services, false teeth, insurance—everything will be on the house.

The Conservative party puts more emphasis on free enterprise and the right of the individual to work out his own destiny, although it probably would retain many of the social welfare projects established by the Labor government. In the popular mind the Conservative party means the bull-dog figure of Winston Churchill who will become prime minister in event of a Conservative victory.

Betting right now favors the Conservatives. The principal reason is that the Labor party has been in power long enough for it to make lots of enemies, inside and outside of its own ranks. The Labor leaders are busy right now trying to patch up their own differences and go into the final weeks of the campaign with a united front.

The Labor party will try to convince the voters that it is the "party of peace" and the Conservatives are "the war party." It will picture Churchill as the war-time prime minister who would like to be the same again—the time against the Russians.

TREASURY WATCHDOG

Canada has had a "watchdog of the treasury" since 1878. An Auditor General to make an annual audit of the federal government's revenue and expenditures. Watson Sellar is the present Auditor General and he is responsible only to the House of Commons and the Senate, not to any department of government.

Wealthy Playboy Wants To Marry Exotic Dancer

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 5—(BUP)—A wealthy young playboy may have to choose between the hootchy-coochy dancer he loves . . . and the doh-ray-mee he loves to spend.

That, apparently, is the choice presented by the mother of 26-year-old Sheppard King. Says Mrs. Bonner King of Houston, Texas—"If he goes through with it, 'he's never coming back to this house.'"

Mrs. King says her son's plans to marry the girl who wowed

Mrs. King says she is "heart-broken . . . and shell-shocked" . . . that she will disown Sheppard if he marries the "dancer . . . named Samia."

"I don't think the girl has a dime to her name," says Mrs. King. But she also says she hopes Samia is a nice girl.

To Mrs. King, her son is a "screwball." But in Paris, King says, the trouble with his mother is that she "doesn't want me to marry anybody." And the tall Texan says he'd rather have his dancer for a wife than all his mother's money.

Pair Fined $600

For Having U.S. Fags

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5—(BUP)—Two men have been fined a total of $600 and costs in Winnipeg for being in illegal possession of American cigarettes.

Jack Pitch and Douglas Warner Storms of Emerson, Manitoba, pleaded guilty to having 220 cartons of imported cigarettes valued at $440.

Police arrested the pair as they loaded the cigarettes into a garage behind Pitch's home.

Children Of Light Tell Winnipeg Of World Destruction

WINNIPEG, Oct. 9.—(BUP) —
The Children of Light made their appearance in Winnipeg last night with a warning that "the world stands on the eve of the most terrible onslaught of destruction the world has ever known."

Mrs. Grace Agnes Carlson and her 12 disciples, wearing sackcloth and linen and dun colored burlap tunics, told a scant audience that her mission was to prepare man for the tribulations to come.

The tribulations, she added,
would last seven years.

Last December Mrs. Carlson and 30 of her followers locked themselves in a Kereomes, B.C., farm house to await her reported prophecy that the end of the world would come Jan. 9.

In denying that she had set a date for "doomsday" Mrs. Carlson said the press and radio were 95 per cent wrong in their reports.

"We're neither seers nor fanatics," she said, "we're just like you are. Our beliefs are sane and down to earth."

"God brought me back from the gates of death 16 years ago. God sent his sign and called us for you . . . because of the destruction that's coming."

Oil Output Shows
Decline In Alberta

Crude oil production in Alberta dropped sharply during the last week of September.

The Alberta Petroleum and Natural Conservation Board reported that production averaged 106,979 barrels daily, compared to an output of 173,928 barrels a week earlier.

The Conservation Board figures covered the week ending Oct. They showed that production came from 2,574 wells, 17 more than in the preceding week.

The Lighter Side

Worn on Festive Occasions
Clerk—Will one collar be enough, madam?

Old Woman (indignant)—Well such foolishness. Do you think I've got more than one husband?

Reminder

The indignant man was shown into the lawyer's office.

"Look here," he burst out, "you've charged me for two consultations on the fifth of last month and I was only here once."

"The fifth of last month," said the solicitor, smoothly. "That was Friday and if I remember correctly it was a very wet day, wasn't it?"

"Yes, it was," answered the client, shortly.

"Well, after you left you came back to ask if you had left your umbrella here."

Faithful

"Will you still love me when my hair has turned grey?"

"Well, darling, I have stuck to you through brown, black, gold, red and platinum, haven't I?"

Lot of Truth to This

A man who went to the doctor's office was somewhat surprised when the nurse told him to step in the next room and remove his clothes.

"But nurse," he started in a hoarse whisper, "it's my throat."

"Please do as I tell you," snapped the nurse, "or I shall be forced to cancel your appointment."

So, shrugging his shoulders, he went into the next room and there sat a young fellow who was looking very uncomfortable and quite naked except for a large parcel he held across his knees.

"Doesn't that beat everything?" said the man removing his coat. "I come in here with a sore throat and I have to take my clothes off."

"What are you beefing about?" was the reply. "I just came in here to deliver this parcel!"

Loud!

She: "Doesn't a still, small voice tell you when you do wrong?"

He: "No, a loud, large voice does—I'm married."

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa:

I have a mother, who is very vivacious and popular but she is very noisy. She embarrasses me in public places by her loud remarks, making all of us conspicuous.

I have reached the point where I hate to go places with her but I cannot tell her the real reason because I hate to hurt her feelings. She thinks I am very shy and is always trying to push me into doing things I don't want to do.

I would be perfectly happy if she would only let me alone, so that I could have friends I like and go to the places I want to go without worrying about being a society butterfly.

How can I tell her all this without hurting her feelings?

DEVOTED DAUGHTER.

Answer:

Your mother is evidently an extrovert and you are an introvert and the two of you naturally do not see eye to eye about things and people.

The more she pushes you into doing the things you dislike the more anti-social you become. If she would let you alone to do the things you like, everyone would be happier but she simply cannot understand how anyone likes to be alone or quiet.

Why don't you explain to her how you feel about your social life? Tell her that you enjoy being quiet and you do not feel left out of things when you are not the life of the party.

She, naturally, is trying to make you happy and if she can be made to understand what your idea of happiness is, perhaps she will stop trying to make you the popularity kid.

LOUISA.

Route of Alaska Highway Said Wasteful, Road From Here To Whitehorse 'Too Rough'

SEATTLE, Washington — (BUP) — Donald McDonald, father of the Alaska Highway, believes a 550-mile stretch of new road from Atlin to Fort St. James, B.C., is necessary to the defence of Alaska.

POLICE FIND NITRO CACHE

WINNIPEG—(BUP)—Winnipeg police reported they have discovered enough high explosives to blow up 50 safes under the north end of the Norwood bridge.

The Nitro-glycerine, was immediately transported to Stoney Mountain where it was exploded harmlessly.

It's believed the high explosives had been hidden under the bridge by safe-crackers.

ed jointly with Canadians in planning the Alaska Highway, formerly known as the Alcan.

He contended that some "brain" in Washington, D.C., decided its present route via Edmonton. The commissions of both the U.S. and Canada had agreed the most feasible route was the one via Fort St. James, which McDonald is advocating today.

He said the new route would cost an estimated $1,500,000 as compared with the existing road's cost of $16,575,000.

Average hourly earnings in manufacturing in Canada rose by 10.8 per cent from April 1, 1950, to April 1, 1951.
